

An Evening with Robin Sax

Thursday, December 3, 2009

7:00 p.m.

John Thomas Dye Hall

Please join us for an informative and educational evening with Robin Sax, a former Los Angeles County Deputy District Attorney who specialized in prosecuting sex crimes against children. This is an evening you shouldn't miss. Robin's expertise will help you teach your children how to keep safe from sexual predators without frightening them.

Robin is a highly sought-after public speaker on the topics of child sexual assault, family violence, domestic abuse, stalking, Internet safety and the criminal justice system. She has also been a legal analyst and commentator for many national media outlets including Larry King Live, Nancy Grace, Today Show, Geraldo at Large, People Magazine and Huffington Post.

Robin has written six books that draw upon her vast experience as a sex-crimes prosecutor, legal commentator and child advocate including: "Predators and Child Molesters: What Every Parents Needs to Know To Keep Kids Safe (A Sex Crimes D.A. Answers 100 of The Most -Asked Questions)," "It Happens Everyday: Inside the Life of A Sex Crimes DA," "Everything I Learned About Parenting I Learned In Court," and "The Complete Idiots Guide to the Criminal Justice System."

For more information on Robin, please go to www.robinsax.com.

The first 60 families attending the lecture will receive a copy of "Predators and Child Molesters: What Every Parents Needs to Know to Keep Kids Safe (A Sex Crimes D.A. Answers 100 of The Most -Asked Questions)."

Please arrive early for refreshments and good seats.

We still need volunteers to bring refreshments and help with clean up so please contact Tina Rhee at c_rhee@yahoo.com or Jan King Washington at janbking@yahoo.com if you would be willing to help out.
